the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in the general population, and the incidence of mental health problems has increased in the prison population.

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the mental health needs of prisoners. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners. Academics: rising to the challenge

Typing all night to finish a term paper, cramming until the wee hours to prepare for the big exam, spending weekend hours in the library searching for the right scrap of information, all these make academic excellence a challenge. Academic excellence involves a decision: the decision to make a sacrifice and top a list of priorities with a commitment to learning.

It's not always a popular decision to make, it's not always an easy decision to follow, but the decision creates within the individual a sense of accomplishment and pride. When he would rather play football, when his friends go to the movies, when his favorite television show is on, he goes into his room and sits down at his desk. When the basketball team has a game, when his family goes out of town, when everyone else seems to be having fun, he stays at home and reads and studies.

The satisfaction in meeting a difficult challenge is not the immediate kind. It is the long-term kind that produces doubts and worries and conflicts. It is the kind that makes him say, "Why should I?" It is the kind that shakes a disapproving finger and cobwebs his mind when he wants to brush it away and be carefree for one glorious Saturday afternoon.

But the challenge keeps his nose to the grindstone. The challenge helps him realize that in the long run this one afternoon just might make a difference. The inner feeling that he's doing something good for himself grows and grows and helps him to grow too, as he travels through faraway lands, meeting Socrates and Newton and Henry VIII. He trains his mind to understand concepts and to grasp the intangible. He learns sacrifice and hard work and responsibility. He gains the respect of those around him. Most of all, he gains the respect of himself. He knows that he set himself a goal. He worked and sweated for it. He rose to meet the challenge.

Activities: rising to the challenge

After hours of rehearsing lines and moves, opening night arrives. Make-up and lights are ready, and the curtain rises. Fledgling actors and actresses quell their nerves while they take that enormous step from the shadows of the wings to the naked, dazzling light of center stage.

Excalibur, Inklings, and Windfall staffs race from typewriter to drawing board and back again. They write, edit, rewrite, and re-edit. They spend afternoons and evenings cutting, pasting, and measuring to meet another deadline.

Marching band members stand poised and stiff, holding their breaths. A field judge walks by. Their heads high, elbows out, faces emotionless, the musicians are proud. The music begins and they lock into position. Each footstep and note falls perfectly into place after hours of practicing and drilling and practicing some more.

Student Council works as a team to benefit the entire school. Dances, programs, and benefits for other people set a precedent for students to follow. Members learn early the basics of the American system of government and will become the basis for it in the future.

Activities face a different type of challenge. It is unlike any challenge that presents itself in the classroom, and it is unlike a challenge found on the playing field. This kind of challenge takes a commitment to give up long hours; it requires exercising the mind. But no grades will reward these sacrifices, and no trophies will be presented to those who participate. These activities reward in their own special way. They foster the sense of pride that make students give of themselves and willing to work long, payless hours to rise to the challenge.

Athletics: rising to the challenge

As a brightly colored balloon rises toward the sky, determined athletes rise to the challenge: The challenge to push a straining body a little farther each day, the challenge to be better than their competitors.

Just as one small balloon moves doggedly upward and onward battling the wind and the rain and the snow, the athlete forces himself to excel upward and onward against the tired and the hurt and the pain.

Waking early to cut through icy water, sacrificing vacation to shoot baskets, sweating through runs and passes and tackles on a sweltering August day, an athlete gives up much. Running all summer to keep in shape, attending classes while knowing yet another practice session lies ahead, burning the midnight oil to complete studying that others finished while he was at practice, the athlete disciplines himself as no one else does.

The swimmer endures the cramps, the football player accepts the injuries, and the runner ignores the rain and the ice. Each has a challenge before him. When the race is lost, when the end of the game leaves the athlete sore and gasping for breath, when the team is hurting and disappointed, only the challenge can make it worthwhile.

Along with the tears of pain come the tears of joy: The races won, the friendships made, the wonderful things learned about oneself. The self-satisfaction and the inner feeling of accomplishment will all combine to form the lump that sticks in his throat when he remembers his team in years to come.

He may not have been a champion, he may not have set any records, he may not have done anything that sets him apart from a thousand other athletes, but in his mind he is the victor. He climbed the highest mountain there is to climb. He put himself at the beginning of a long, arduous journey that must be traveled alone. In every sport the athlete must rise to meet the challenge.

Students display Homecoming spirit

Warm spirits filled the halls during the 1982 Homecoming week.

The week began with the traditional class color day with the seniors dressing in red, juniors in blue, sophomores in yellow, and freshmen in green.

Tuesday was the popular punk rock day. Several students dressed in bizarre clothing and wore absurd hairdos.

A variety of college t-shirts and sweatsuits could be seen around the school on Wednesday and Thursday.

Friday was red and white day, and spirited ticket holders poured into the gym to share in the excitement of the big game. In competing for the spirit stick, the cheerleaders led the school in several class cheers, with the juniors coming out victorious.

Due to a heavy rain storm, the powderpuff game had to be postponed until the Monday after Homecoming. After a hard battle the juniors emerged victorious with a final score of 24-20. Mindi Barton and Nancy Cowan were named the most valuable players of the junior and senior teams, respectively.

Bulldogs burn Devils at Homecoming

The evening of October 8 was a warm fall night for a perfect Homecoming game. The night's activities began with the traditional Homecoming parade consisting of the Royal Regiment, clubs, organizations, the queen candidates, and the class princesses. The mighty Bulldogs clashed with the Lowell Red Devils at 7:30 p.m. The Bulldogs, cheered on by rowdy students, easily defeated the Devils, 21-7.

Contrary to the tradition of past years, the freshman float won the float competition at halftime. At halftime Anne Nerney, Booster Club vice president, announced the class princesses and queen candidates. The class princesses were freshman Dawn Burish, sophomore Kathy Koval, and junior Nancy Cowan. Then the four queen candidates, Teri Anderson, Kathy Cain, Julie Haag, and Jackie McLaughlin, nervously walked across the football field with their escorts. Sandy Kersey, Booster Club president, crowned the teary-eyed Teri Anderson the 1982 Homecoming queen. Mario Soto, Student Council president, presented Teri with roses and the signed football.

The annual Homecoming dance, with "Best of Times" as the theme, took place the following night. Tony Degani was crowned Mr. Football by Sandy Kersey. Adam Gilbert, Rich Riddle, and Eric Schaeffer were the other candidates.

Big crowd enjoys romantic evening

Soft Christmas candles glimmer on the tables. The band deftly sets up its equipment. Beautiful murals of silhouette dancers fill the walls. Christmas trees with shimmering multi-colored lights cast a holiday glow over the cafeteria. All is in readiness for the arrival of over 200 couples to the 1982 "Moonlight and Mistletoe" Turnabout Dance.

Unusually mild weather allowed the couples to arrive with light jackets, but didn't hinder their enjoyment of the eventful night.

As the cafeteria slowly filled with couples, the band "Tapestry" tried to awaken enthusiasm with its music. Without much delay, the couples burst onto the dance floor. Soon, the shoes were left under the tables and the ties and jackets hung on the chairs, as couples plunged into lively dances.

Although the dance floor was crowded throughout the night, some couples stood in line for a long time waiting to get their pictures taken for a special memory of the night.

The time came for the queen and class princesses to be named. Karen Wayman, editor of the Inklings; Mark Henderson, assistant editor; and Chris Badowski, business manager, announced the winners as names were drawn for each class. As each class princess came forward, she received a rose and the queen received several roses. The queen of the 1982 Turnabout Dance was Dana Topa; junior princess, Cheryl Bowie; sophomore princess, Tracy Bal; and freshman princess, Britt Wood.

Eleven p.m. came too soon as the band played its last song. The candles still flickered, the tables were filled with rumpled napkins and empty punch cups as the band packed up their instruments. The cafeteria slowly emptied, but for most the evening wasn't at its end. Couples still looked forward to a romantic dinner with their dates. The Turnabout Dance may be over for another year, but the memories will live on forever.

Changes appear in Crown Point area

Crown Point High School has added a few changes to the school this year. One of the most useful improvements to the school is the school marquee on the front lawn. The marquee provides the public with information of school sports, plays, and other extra-curricular activities. The Student Council and the National Honor Society Chapter of 1982 provided for this financial project.

New Olympic symbols decorate the auxiliary gym. These red-painted symbols depict the various sports that the students participate in at Crown Point. Art class students used their artistic skills in painting the symbols.

The Adult Booster Club contributed improvements to the football field. One of these improvements was the sign above the bleachers reading "Bulldog Turf." Another improvement was the new scoreboard for the football games. A new concession stand was built near the football field. Building trade students worked on this project.

A few fast-food restaurants have made their appearances in town. Willy's Short Stop Pizza and Gameroom replaced the Arco gas station and car wash. The Clubhouse Backdoor Arcade took over Gambie's pizza place in the Lake View Square. Many students go there to play the popular video games. The Long John Silver's seafood restaurant chain, has made its way into Crown Point. The restaurant opened in late December. The Jewel Food Store reopened in the summer of 1982. The grocery store was closed for almost half a year because of a collapsed roof.

Prom goers share treasured dreams

The 1983 prom theme "Dreams We Treasure," coupled with the theme song "Just You and I," provided a very special evening for over 200 couples.

Tuxes with tails for the guys and hoops for the girls proved to be the popular style at this year's prom. A few extravagant prom goers had the pleasure of arriving in chauffeur-driven limousines. At 7 p.m. couples strolled into the Serbian Hall to seat themselves for dinner. During dinner a slide presentation, accompanied by the song "Freeze Frame," was shown of students in various school activities.

As soon as dessert was cleared away, the band Pawnz, making its third appearance at Crown Point's prom, got couples out on the dance floor for a slow dance. After dancing to many popular hits, couples headed for their seats to await the crowning of the prom queen and king.

As the candidates were announced, they were escorted from their tables by students in the junior class. Queen and king candidates were Kathy Cain, Jackie McLaughlin, Susan McMichael, Kelli O'Hare, Todd Rosenbower, Tom Feder, Tim Lewis, and Rich Riddle. Excitement spread throughout the hall as the long-awaited moment arrived when the 1983 prom king and queen titles were given to Todd Rosenbower and Jackie McLaughlin. The crowning was followed by the royal dance of the king and queen to the theme song "Just You and I." The evening came to a close but only at Serbian Hall. Parties, carriage rides through Chicago, and early morning breakfasts were among the events following the dance.

Rainy and windy weather the next day didn't dampen the spirits of students for post-prom activities. Many couples made trips to the beach, Turkey Run, and Marriott's Great America to complete their memory-filled weekend.

Senior Banquet climaxes year

The 1983 Senior Banquet, held at the After Four Supper Club, turned out to be more fun than the seniors expected. Following the buffet-style dinner, seniors headed straight for the dance floor. Gag awards were presented by the senior class officers to the following people: Nick Connon and Andrea Wagonblast, Most Likely to Succeed; Jay Mayden and Kathy Cain, Most Likely to Rob the Cradle; Tim Lewis, Teri Anderson, and Rich Riddle, Best Personality; Johanna Moffatt and Jim Keene, Dumbest Laugh; Bob Miller and Tonya Moran, Most Likely to Serve Our Country; Bob Miller, Class Clown; Mark Schweitzer and Teri Anderson, Wild and Craziest; Julie Haag and Pete Blanco, Best Dressed; Dan Paitsell and Eileen Crowley, Worst Driver; Mary Schach and Tony Degani, First Married; Pete Blanco, Julie Haag, and Paul Sancya, Most Conceited; Tom Feder and Jackie McLaughlin, Best Couple; Eric Juratic and Dan Paitsell, Cry Baby; Tammy Hammel, Spaciest; Rich Riddle and Kelly Pfister, Luckiest; Keith Linsley, Unluckiest; Dan Paitsell and Johanna Moffatt, Born Loser; Andrea Wagonblast and Nick Connon, Most Likely To Turn Into a book; Dave Benda and Tonya Moran, Most Radical; Dan Paitsell and Jean Stewart, Most Paranoid; Todd Rosenbower and Karin Birchel, Most Mannerly; Amy Equihua, Miss ERA; Pete Blanco, Mr. Chauvinist; Dave Springer, Mr. Fix It; Dan Vinovich and Mandy Nash, Best Quarter Player; Diana Fischer, Rah Rah; Tim Lewis and Teri Anderson, Most Outgoing; Mario Soto and Stacy Alberts, Brown Noser; Rick Matijevich and Mario Soto, Biggest Con Artist; Mark Henderson, Best Joke Teller; Mark Schweitzer, Best Party Thrower; James Festa, Most Preppy; Mario Soto, Disco King.

After the last song of the night was played, seniors reflected back on all the good times they had together. Tears of joy and sadness filled the eyes of many seniors as they realized that their high school days were coming to an end.

Graduation night marks a beginning

The 101st annual commencement was held on May 27 at 8 p.m. Due to inclement weather, the ceremony was held once again in the gymnasium. About 7:30 p.m. students began to line up in the hallways to prepare for the processional. The 449 seniors then marched down the aisle to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." Salutatorian Susan McMichael led the pledge of allegiance and followed with the invocation. Tim Lewis, senior class president, welcomed the seniors, friends, and families to the 1983 graduation.

The baccalaureate message, "Fresh Every Morning," was given by Reverend R. Donald Weaver of the First United Methodist Church. The valedictory messages were given by the co-valedictorians Mary Christofolis, Nick Connon, and Andrea Wagonblast. The senior choir members performed "Party Blessing" which was conducted by Mr. Michael Wade.

Mr. Ken Brist, principal, then read the names of the graduates as they nervously walked across the stage to receive their diplomas from the school board members. After all the graduates received their diplomas, Mr. Charles Bigler, superintendent, asked the class of 1983 to stand. As tension and anxiety grew, the graduates moved their tassels from the left side to the right as Mr. Bigler announced "The Class of 1983 is now graduated." Shouts of joy, tears, and hugs came from the graduates as they realized their days in high school were over.

Journalists earn awards of merit

Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for student journalists, held its annual induction at the publications banquet in April.

Miss Eleanore Britton, adviser of Inklings and Excalibur, and Mrs. Debbie Callison, adviser of Windfall, welcomed newcomers Chris Badowski, Eric Dillon, Dawn Donaldson, Jackie McLaughlin, Kim Westerhout, and Jim Yagelski to begin the candle-light ceremony.

Staff members received awards in several categories. Winning the Excalibur superstar awards this year were Susan McMichael, editor-in-chief; Christie Claus, assistant editor; and Kim Westerhout, senior album editor.

Jim Yagelski, Windfall editor, and Karen Wayman, editor-in-chief of the Inklings, also received a superstar award. Chris Badowski, Inklings news editor and business manager, received a special trophy for outstanding service.

Jean Barrett of the Lake County Star awarded Brad Much a scholarship to attend a newspaper workshop at Indiana University. Eric Dillon received a scholarship from Root Photographers to attend a photography workshop at Indiana University.

Susan McMichael received the Excalibur best staffer award from the Hammond Times, and Karen Wayman received the Inklings best staffer award from the Post Tribune.

ACES initiates unique approach

The ACES (Artistic and Creative Enrichment Seminar) was launched at the beginning of the year. This program was formed to broaden the interests of gifted ninth grade students. Students in this program were carefully screened and selected during the spring of the previous year.

ACES students attended two Shakespearean plays, a ballet, a symphony concert featuring a concert pianist, an autopsy, a planetarium, an industrial data processing center, an investment firm, Purdue University's science department, a slaughter house, and a commercial photography studio.

The ACES students welcomed many guest speakers who spoke about motivation, goal setting, investing in the stock market, autopsies, and biology.

They also worked independently on projects. They investigated the stock market and individual stocks, selected an investment board, contributed their own money, and invested in fifty shares of stock.

The student published a quarterly newsletter as an extracurricular project. They also took a six-week course to introduce them to computers. Among the books they read were Brave New World, Walden II, and Lord of the Flies. They tried to tackle the problems confronting society and explore the concept of Utopias.

Speech activities increase fluency

The Speech and Debate club sponsors for this year were Mr. David Rosenbaum, French and German teacher, and Miss Marilee Thanholdt, English teacher.

This club includes students with an interest in public speaking. Club activities develop a student's ability to think on his feet, to grip the attention of an audience, and to project his voice. Student gain experience from competing with students from other schools at speech meets throughout the year.

The Speech and Debate team traveled to Munster, Chesterton, Portage, and Highland. They attended sectionals at Portage. Julie Schoenborn qualified for regionals.

Members of the Speech and Debate team (top) are Dannette Huber, Laurie Ellis, Rebecca Freeze, Michael Rieser, Miss Marilee Thanholdt, assistant speech coach.

Council sponsors group functions

This year the Student Council really outdid themselves in their activities and contributions to the school and community.

During the summer, the Student Council officers attended the Student Leadership Institute (SLI) at Indiana University. At SLI the officers learned the duties and responsibilities of their offices. They also received ideas and suggestions on conducting school and community events.

Throughout the year the Student Council held after-the-game dances. Attendance proved the dances were a success in boosting student morale and participation.

During Homecoming week, the Student Council sponsored a fall festival consisting of class competition, games, and food. The dunking machine and pie in the face were the most popular games of the evening.

In December the Student Council sponsored a teacher appreciation day to which all administrators, teachers, secretaries, and custodians were invited. A breakfast was served with the help of the cafeteria staff.

This year the Student Council extended their services to the community. During the Christmas season, the council went to the four area county homes and invited senior citizens to attend a band holiday concert given by the Crown Point High School band. Members provided bus service and assistance at the concert for the senior citizens. In the spring, the council picked up litter around the city's business district.

Seniors excel, claim top honor

Every year students are chosen to participate in Boys' and Girls' State. Students are interviewed by the faculty who make their selection with the emphasis on government. The 1982 delegates spent a week last June at Indiana State University in Terre Haute. The delegates learned about the roles of government officials and their offices. This program promotes leadership, character, and enables the student to learn more about themselves and their roles in the government.

National Honor Society made several changes this year. Mr. Jerald Holcomb became the new sponsor. In January NHS held a candy sale. The profits from the sale went toward the club's annual trip to Marriot's Great America. Other activities of the society were an exchange student program. Selected NHS members spent a day at Chesterton High School participating in Chesterton's academic program.

Four outstanding seniors received honors for their four years of hard work at the high school. Three students achieved the coveted role of valedictorians. These seniors were Mary Christofolis, Nick Connon, and Andrea Wagonblast. Susan McMichael was this year's salutatorian.

Yearbook holds year's highlights

When you enter room E236 fifth hour, your senses are assailed by a multitude of sounds and images. Typewriters clattering, phones ringing, glossy photographs spread out on desks, students conferring with one another with raised voices over deadlines are all part of the process of bringing a yearbook to press.

Assembling a yearbook is a yearlong task requiring a large commitment of time and cooperation of staff, editors, and adviser. The staff takes care of the writing and the editorial work in the classroom. But some of the work incorporates the selling of ads, promoting yearbook sales, and picture taking after school hours.

This year's staff concentrated on increasing the number of yearbooks and ads sold. They also had special fund raising events to afford more color pages of school events. The 1982-83 school year is history, but Excalibur preserves the memories.

Bi-weekly paper keeps staff busy

A small Inklings' staff with little experience in planning and laying out the pages started the 1982-83 school year. The editors quickly mastered modern layout technique and began to produce a professional-looking paper.

Working hard, they took great pride in meeting their deadlines and offering their readers a wide variety of articles, ranging from features of Devo's latest concert to Drama Club's production of A Christmas Carol. In the publications room, the staff was always involved in one of the phases of producing a paper, either planning, writing, editing, pasting up, or selling.

Assisting the small staff were the journalism class and a number of stringers who helped write articles for the bi-weekly newspaper.

An Inklings experiment to sell papers during lunch hours failed, and the staff went back to selling papers in the classrooms.

In addition to producing a bi-weekly paper the Inklings sponsored the Turnabout Dance and a Valentine's Day carnation sale.

Key members of the staff include Karen Wayman, editor-in-chief; Mark Henderson, feature editor; and news editor and business manager, Chris Badowski.

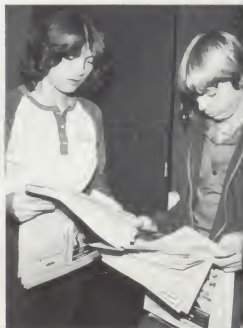

Other members include Todd Henderlong and Brad Much, sports co-editors, photography director Pam Bazant, and Donna Lambeth, circulation manager.

Windfall selects creative efforts

Windfall, the literary-art magazine, under the direction of first year sponsor Mrs. Debbie Callison, captures the best creative works of CPHS students.

The 1982-83 staff consisted of approximately 35 students to promote the magazine. Members displayed posters around the school building and made announcements concerning contributions. The staff also raised money by candy and carnation sales.

Students submitted contributions that included poetry, short stories, artwork, and photography. The contributions were reviewed and the best were selected for the magazine.

Seniors headed the staff with Jim Yagelski as editor-in-chief and Theresa Badovich as assistant editor.

Other key members included Peggy Schmal, business manager, and Nick Cannon, promotional manager.

Prizes for best contributions were $50 and $100.

New Organizations create Interest

This year several new clubs have formed. These clubs have sparked a renewed interest in the clubs at CPHS.

Among the new clubs OEA, Office Education Association, is the biggest. This organization has been active since its start. Members sold light bulbs to raise money for a ski trip planned for March.

HOE, Health Occupation Education is another new club this year. Members of this organization learn nursing skills as well as how to care for a patient in a classroom environment. In HOSA or Health Occupation Students of America, members further their interest and skill in the health field.

Cooperative Office Education, COE, has given about 20 students opportunities to hold a job receiving on the job training as well as get classroom credit.

HERO, or Home Economics Related Occupations, is a club which has been active for several years. This year HERO gave a Christmas party for some orphan children.

Homemakers of America, a group similar to HERO, tries to further members' education and knowledge in the home economics field.

Art, Film Clubs sponsor projects

The Art Club is open to all students. It meets only when there is a job to be accomplished.

The Art Club's projects this year have included making large murals of silhouette dancers for the Turnabout Dance. The murals covered the bulletin boards in the cafeteria and added a romantic touch to the decorations.

The Art Club also did face paintings for the Solon Robinson Art Fair. The Art Club also puts on its own art show annually. The Art Club raised money for awards for outstanding senior art students. These awards are given during the Senior Banquet. The Art Club also visited area art shows at TRI Kappa-N.I.A.A.

The Film Club, a small group under the supervision of Mr. George Tachtiris, was organized this year. Mr. Tachtiris teaches the techniques of filming and animation to club members. After a film is completed, the members analyze and study it.

The Film Club made several animated films. In one project the film club simulated terrorist groups taking over the school and filmed this project.

Another project of the Film Club was videotaping the track team meets.

Several students participated in the State Media Fair. This program gives students a chance to compete with other students and to display their talents.

Biology Club remembers Ziggy

The Biology Club has remained the same for the last years with one exception: the students are different.

Students in Advanced Biology are automatically considered to be in the Biology Club. Dissection of sharks and pigs is an annual project of the Advanced Biology Club.

The annual trip to the Field Museum was truly different this year. Something "historical" was taking place. Ziggy, the elephant who caught everyone's attention at Brookfield Zoo from 1936 until his death in 1975, when he fell in a moat around his cage, was being reconstructed. Students will long remember that they saw the skeleton of Ziggy being re-assembled for display in the Field Museum.

Photography Club learns new skills

The Photography Club took its annual field trip to Lemon Lake to start off the year's activities. There the members took pictures of anything that interested them, children at play or scenic sights. After taking pictures, the club members analyzed and discussed them at a later meeting.

In the spring, club members toured the facilities of Burrell Color Lab. Club members learned how to develop film and print black and white pictures.

Chariot racers take 1st place at Indianapolis

Latin Club, the largest of the foreign language groups, included many activities in its agenda.

In October, the mighty Bulldog chariot team rose to its third consecutive victory at the National Chariot Race held at the Indianapolis 500 track.

In December, the Latin Club held its annual banquet, the Saturnalia. Many of the students dressed in togas to show their Latin Club spirit. The underclassmen served as slaves to the fourth year students.

The Latin Club officers and members of the advanced Latin Classes attended Governor Orr's signing of the proclamation of National Latin Week in Indianapolis.

German Club

German Club, a group of 12 members, built the winning homecoming float. The float consisted of German music, with animated German figures hand in hand.

In December the club had a Christmas party at which they lit candles on a Christmas tree and made Swiss Fondue.

During foreign language week, club members aided in the decorating the school and hosting the foreign language banquet.

They also had monthly dinners at each member's home. Their business meetings were held on Thursdays every second week, to add to their full agenda.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club, participated in the Homecoming float contest, for the first time this year. Although they didn't take the victory, they added much color and music to the homecoming parade. Members of the club also threw candy to spectators.

In October, the Spanish Club had a picnic at the Lake County Fairgrounds where they danced to the sound of Spanish music and ate Spanish food. Later that month the club had a Halloween Fiesta. Each student dressed up in a Spanish costume of his or her own choice.

French Club

The French Club held meetings on alternate Thursdays in room F-215 to discuss planifuture activities.

In December they had a Christmas party which features a Buche de Noel contest. A Buche de Noel is a cake roll in the shape of a log. Participants in the contest had Buche de Noel's judged for taste, originality, and appearance.

Proceeds from a crepe sale were used to help pay the cost of dining at a French restaurant.

Club members contributed many French dishes and songs for the foreign language banquet.

GVC, Lettermen offer services

Homecoming festivities began early with the GVC and Letterman's Clubs' twenty-second annual balloon race ticket sales. Prior to the Homecoming game on October 8, 800 balloons were released. Twenty-four letters were returned. The farthest balloon, owned by Angie Wilson, traveled to Virginia Beach, Virginia. Following right behind Angie Wilson's balloon was Patty Niesen's balloon, which was found in Norfolk, Virginia. Third place was awarded to Jim Foster, whose balloon traveled to Grayton, West Virginia. During Homecoming the GVC sold Homecoming mums.

The Letterman's Club volunteered help to the Cedar Lake Historical Society. Several weekends in the fall, the Lettermen helped with the renovation of the Lassen Hotel in Cedar Lake.

The GVC and Letterman's Clubs M&M sale was held in January. Many other clubs sold M&M's earlier in the year; yet, profits still soared for the two clubs.

During the winter the Letterman's Club and GVC teamed up to bake bread as a money raiser. The Letterman's Club sold programs and candy at all home basketball and football games.

Boosters foster school pride

The 1982-83 Booster Club members took great interest in supporting each and every sport in which Crown Point participated. During the winter sports they established spirit signs to put on each athlete's locker during each sectional. Throughout the year the Boosters made spirit posters for each sport.

In other activities the Booster Club planned the Homecoming Spirit week, in which students dressed in their class colors one day and their school colors the next. They also dressed as punk rockers and took part in the sweat suit day, hat and hair day. Booster Club also sponsored the Powderpuff Game and the Homecoming Dance.

In March, the Boosters added something new by sponsoring the Mop Dance. Mop is prom spelled backwards. At this dance students came stag.

In February the Boosters planned the second Spirit Week of the year to show spirit for the Lady Bulldogs.

FCA members set examples

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes are students that take great pride in their Christian faith. They must carry this faith in athletics as well as their every day lives.

They attend meetings every Monday for one hour. The first part of their meetings they take part in an athletic event. The last half of their meetings they talk about dating, home life, example setting, and general Bible study.

They also attend summer conferences in places such as North Carolina, Virginia, Indiana, and Colorado.

Throughout the year the FCA members are asked to set the right examples in school, athletics, and social life, an example that illustrates Christ in their lives.

Jazz Band gains self confidence

This year's Jazz Band members put much emphasis on promoting jazz music and improvisation. In addition to improving their musical skills, band members also gained self and group confidence.

The Jazz Band also competed in the ISSMA State competition and were named the top band of the day. They also won the same title at River Forest High School, and a second place at the ISU Jazz Festival.

Throughout the year many of the members won individual awards: Dave Carl, best guitarist; Shelby Baize, best bass player; Tom Apikos, best drummer; John VanGilden, best pianist; and Tim King, best trumpet player.

Pep Band boosts school spirit

Throughout the year the Pep Band could very easily have been the reason for the Bulldog spirit rising to an all-time high. They added energy and pizzazz to each home game.

"We Got the Beat" seemed to arouse Crown Point spirit. This song is just another way of telling our rivals that they had better watch out because Crown Point has the beat.

When the Pep Band played the Superman theme, the Crown Point mascot would get up and fly around the gym, just as Superman does, only with a little lift from the male cheerleaders.

The Pep Band played the Budweiser theme, Blues Brothers theme, the National Anthem, and school song.

Musical groups improve skills

Most teens love to listen to music, but members of the symphony band, concert band, orchestra, and the freshman band do more than that. They spend much of their time practicing music.

This year marked the beginning of a musical group entitled "Sinfonietta". The group meets daily as a class and is composed of 11 selected orchestra students. Sinfonietta performed for the Lake Area United Way Dinner, January graduation, the Crown Point Woman Organization, and various senior citizen groups.

The orchestra received many top honors this year. One outstanding honor was an invitation to attend Northern Illinois University Orchestra Festival. Crown Point was one of the five orchestras to be invited. The orchestra also practiced with the North West Indiana Orchestra for a day at Highland High School.

The concert band, made up for the most part of freshmen and sophomores participated in the Christmas Concert and in all city concert in the spring.

The symphony band gave two major concerts and participated in one contest. At Christmas time the symphony band presented a medley of Christmas selections for the general public in the school auditorium.

Regiment vies in area contests

The Royal Regiment started the 1982-83 year striving for perfection. They practiced five hours a week as a group, not to mention the many hours they practiced individually.

The Royal Regiment marched to the beat of two first places in the Hebron and the Merrillville Fourth of July parades. They also participated in the Crown Point parade July 4.

On August 22 the Royal Regiment participated in the National American Legion parade in Chicago.

On September 19 the Regiment marched home with a second place after participating in the Harvest Day parade in Dwight, Illinois.

The Regiment also took first in the Lowell Labor Day parade and added its own sparkle to the Crown Point Homecoming parade.

The Regiment attended the Chicago-land marching festival at Wheeling High School, where they received a third place.

At the District ISSMA contest held at Lewis-Cass High School in Walton, Indiana, the Regiment achieved a second place for marching and a first for inspection.

On October 9 at the Kokomo Tournament of champion bands, the Regiment received a participation award.

In keeping with its name, the Regiment also added a fall colorguard which includes the American flag, state flag, city flag, school flag, Royal Regiment flag, band colors, and the British flag.

Choirs improve vocal techniques

The Choraleers and Choralairs, or the boys' and girls' choir, are courses open to any student interested in singing and music. Class time is spent working on vocal techniques, understanding and becoming comfortable with each individual voice, and on developing good performance and communication skills by working on quality literature for public performance.

The Choraleers and Choralairs participate in the Fall Choral preview, the Holiday Concert and Assembly, the Winter Concert, and the Spring Sing along with the A Cappella Choir.

The A Cappella Choir, which is made up of both boys and girls, also participates in the Lake County Choral Festival, the Fall Classical Concert, the State Contest Recital, and the Homecoming Parade.

The Show or Swing Choir gained many new members. The Show Choir is an extra-curricular activity featuring singing and dancing.

The solo and ensembles participate in ISSMA in April. The purpose is to recognize experts. Students gain feedback on how to improve and what they are doing well.

All-State Choir members are Karen Beauchamp, Ruth Oliver, Charley McGarrity, and Mark Henderson.

Madrigals bring pageantry to life

A group of elaborately dressed people walk out onto a lighted stage and begin to sing. Their song is of mythical beings and long forgotten times.

These people are not fiction or fantasy. They are the very real and entertaining Madrigal singing group.

The Madrigals are an extra-curricular group that meets after school. Anyone can audition, but getting accepted into Madrigals is not easy. The Madrigals sing without accompaniment. Although they practice to sing together as a group, strong, independent voices are needed for solos.

Attired in their costumes, authentic replicas of sixteenth century dress, the Madrigals perform for church groups, business organizations, women's clubs, and elementary schools.

The Madrigals also hold a sixteenth century Christmas banquet complete with traditional Elizabethan food and entertainment for the public annually. This year it was held at the Four Seasons clubhouse on December fifth and tenth.

Drama combines creative efforts

When you attend a play or musical at Crown Point High School, the props, sets and costumes you see on stage are all the result of the hardworking Drama Club. Even the lighting and sound is operated by Drama Club members.

The Drama Club is an extra-curricular activity which is open to all. Anyone not interested in acting can find many other jobs. Before opening night, sets must be painted, props collected, and costumes made for the entire cast. Ushers and ticket salesmen are also needed for the play itself.

This year the Drama Club put on The Good Doctor in the fall. At Christmas time they produced A Christmas Carol in conjunction with the Playmakers. In the spring they produced the musical comedy Pippin together with the Choral Department. In preparation for this, the Drama Club traveled to Terre Haute to see Pippin at Indiana State University.

Drama Club members who earn ten points or the equivalent of one hundred hours in any phase of drama work, are inducted into the National Thespian Society. A yearly event for the Thespians is an award banquet and inductions ceremony in the spring.

Talent produces 'The Good Doctor'

Early in the fall when the leaves were falling and the temperature dropping, students came to see an unusual play by Neil Simon called "The Good Doctor." The play was combined from ten short stories by Anton Chekhov.

The play offered 23 students a chance to feature their talents as upcoming actors and actresses. Credit is not only due to the cast but crew as well.

Act I of the play offered such scenes as "Surgery" in which a pre-dental student (Scott Nangle) pulls a tooth from the mouth of a sexton (Bob Smith). A highlight of Act II was the scene of "The Drowned Man." In it a sailor (Kris Johnstone) asks a writer (Mark Henderson) if he would pay to see him drown.

The key to the play was the style of presentation. Simon made Chekhov the host and had him step into a variety of characters.

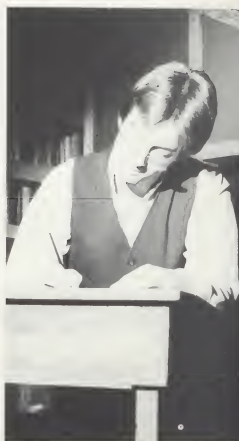

Key members of the cast were Mark Henderson, Anton Chekhov; Pat Klein, Cherdyakov; Noah Burczyk, Peter; Leslie Cochran, girl; and Ruth Oliver as the woman.

Classic captures Christmas spirit

The Drama Club together with The Playmakers, a community theater group, produced Dickens' classic "A Christmas Carol."

This was the first time the groups worked together. By combining their resources, the budget of the play reached $3,000.

The extra money enabled the group to get better costumes and have special effects, such as people flying, explosions, and disappearances.

The main character Scrooge was played by Howard England. Other members of the cast included Kris Johnstone, as young Scrooge; Bob Smith, as Christmas Present; Ruth Oliver, as Mrs. Cratchit; and Glen Christman, as Apprentice Scrooge.

Pippin attracts lively audience

The CPHS Choral and Drama Departments presented the musical Pippin at the final performance of the 1982-83 school year. Dave Carl and Ruth Oliver played the leading roles along with seven supporting actors as well as seventeen dancers and players.

Sets, props, costumes and lights were all ready for the first performance April 30. Other performances were on May 7, May 13, and May 14. The final performance was the most successful, attracting an audience of over 280.

The musical was co-directed by Mr. Marion Kellum and Mr. Michael Wade, with choreography by Debbie Epperson and student direction by Jenny Swantko. Mr. James Deal directed the orchestra.

Pippin is the story of a young man's search for the meaning of life. He experiments with politics, war and worldly pleasures, but his experiences leave him feeling shallow and empty. He thinks of committing suicide, but he decides to cope with the world in which he lives.

This story is particularly pertinent today. In an age of fast-talking politicians, nuclear war threats, and superficial "plastic" relationships, the desire for meaning and purpose has never been so strongly felt. The story, Pippin, is a parable told by clowns. It teaches us to laugh at ourselves.

Catherine (Paula Phillips, top) sings "Kind of Woman" accompanied by a chorus of angels.

Classics displays student talent

The student body received a chance to perform during the fourth annual classics. The steering committee, consisting of members of the Choral Department and Student Council, chose fifteen acts. The acts were then categorized into five groups: vocal, piano and dance, band and instruments, comedy, and vocal and instrumental.

The judges for Classics '83 were Judy Levine, general manager of North West Symphony Orchestra; Charles Franko, Crown Point Chief of Police; Evelyn Slaughter, media coordinator of Crown Point Community Schools; Greg Lambert, former student of Crown Point High School.

The criteria for judging the acts were audience appeal, stage presence, selection of material, execution, preparation, timing and enunciation. The winners of each category received a trophy and $25. The overall winner received an additional $75.

The winners in the bands and instrumental category were the group Les Freres: Tom Andrews, Tom Apikos, Shelby Baize, Bob Svehla, playing Children of Sanchez. Freshman Amy Starr won the piano and dance category for her rendition of "Butterfly." John Lynch received the award for the vocal and instrumental category with "Shattered Dream," his own composition. In his "Last Performance," Mark Henderson won the comedy award for his stand-up comic routine. The vocal and overall winner was Leslie Cochran singing "Lost Inside of You." The Student Master and Mistress of Ceremony were Teri Anderson and Eric Schaeffer. Faculty master of ceremonies was Mr. Bernard Kowalski, social studies teacher.

For the fourth consecutive year, the popular band "Exciter" (top) rocked Classics, this time performing Sammy Hagar's tune, "I Don't Need Love."

Aides help out in several areas

Student aides are helpful to the administration as well as other students. The students offer their time to help out in various jobs. Each group of aides performs a different function.

Attendance aides have several different jobs. First, they collect the attendance slips from all teachers. Sometimes they have to remind a teacher to put out an attendance slip. After collecting the slips, attendance aides have to record who is gone each hour. They also have to keep record of anyone who comes or leaves the school.

Guidance aides also have numerous jobs. They take request slips to students and write for career information. They also file college and career information as well as assist the counselors and secretaries in every day jobs.

The jobs of main office aides are closely related to those of guidance. These aides also run errands and take request slips to students.

The audio-visual aides, known as AV aides, load film into movie projectors and deliver the projectors to the classes. They also deliver tape recorders, record players, and video machines to the classrooms.

Library aides help by checking out books and magazines. They also card the books that are returned. They also assist the librarians with odd jobs that have to be done.

Cafeteria aides help out by washing all the dishes used in the course of the day.

Library Aides are (middle) Jodi Adler, Georgette Wagner, Randy Thompson, and Danette Huber.

Season's record does not reveal the whole story

The boys' varsity football team, coached by Mr. Brad Smith, closed its season with a 4-6 overall record. But this record does not tell the whole story. The team lost no games by a score of more than one touchdown and a field goal. They lost 6-3 to Highland in single overtime; 26 to 23 to Lake Central; and 26 to 23 to Gary Lew Wallace, both in double overtimes. The team's record in the Lake Suburban Conference was 4-2, giving the team second place conference position.

The top players were Richard Riddle, MVP and top offensive back; Ron Miller, top offensive lineman; Don Rospond, top receiver; Adam Gilbert and Larry Geisen, top defensive backs; Eric Schaeffer and Fred Conway, top defensive linemen.

Richard Riddle was named All-State, honorable mention. Eric Schaeffer and Richard Riddle were named All-Conference first team. Receiving All-Conference honorable mention were Joe Targett, Jim Keene, Don Rospond, Joe Kuehl, Fred Conway, Toni Degani, Larry Geisen, and Paul Sancya. Steve Tobias was awarded academic All-State while he, Ted Menice, Richard Riddle, Eric Schaeffer and Adam Gilbert got academic All-Conference.

J.V., frosh take 1st in Conference

The J.V. ended its season with a 8-0 record, with shutouts over Lake Central, 3-0; Munster, 6-0; Calumet, 20-0. The J.V. also scored a big victory over non-conference Valpo, by scoring twice in the last three minutes to win.

J.V. defensive unit allowed only 40 points all year. George Antal, cornerback, had an amazing six blocked punts all year.

The offensive line needed to be credited for much of the team's success in scoring. With the combination of lead scorer, Jim Greene, and quarterback, Art Equihua, several passing touchdowns were made throughout the year.

Coach Rich Svihra said, "The team had no superstars, just young men who worked hard all year and never gave up. The team also had good attitudes and the will to win. These factors were instrumental in the J.V.'s successful season."

The frosh finished with an 8-0 record scoring shutouts over Gary West Side, 6-0; Munster, 33-9; Calumet, 36-0; The "B" team finished with a 4-0 record and two shutouts over Griffith, 20-0; Munster, 36-0.

Cross Country races to 7th at State Meet

This year's cross country team raced to a seventh place team finish at the State Meet. This was the team's tenth trip to the State Meet in the last eleven years. Tom Feder led the team with second place individually in the State Meet. Tom was named to the All-Conference first team along with second man Steve Brownlee. Tom was also named to the Indiana Track and Cross Country Coaches All-State team. He was also named to the All-American cross country team. Scott Rench, Neal Wilber, Jim Krampen, and Brian Donovan were named to the All-Conference second team.

The team's seventh place at state meet culminated an excellent season. The team went 8-0 in the conference to capture its tenth consecutive LSC Championship. It was 16-0 overall in its non-invitational meets. The team won the LSC meet and placed second in the Rebel, Gavit, and Culver invitionals. Placing second at Sectionals and Regionals, the team followed up with third at Semi-State.

Girls splash to 5th in conference

The girls' swim team finished its year, under the direction of third year Coach Deby Karm with a 2-13 record. The girls placed fifth in Conference and sixth in Sectionals.

Diver Tina Head placed second in Conference and fourth in Sectionals. She is also a 50-yard freestyle swimmer and placed eleventh in swimming Sectionals. Tina also received the most valuable swimmer award.

Junior Jenifer Morris, the anchor for the team, placed fourth in Sectionals, swimming the backstroke. Sophomore Becky Beckman placed twelfth at Sectionals, swimming the breaststroke.

Major letter winners were senior Celeste Horton; juniors Janet Wise, Jenifer Morris, Chris Badowski, Julie Wackerlin, Tina Head, Amy Mikkel; sophomores Eileen Donovan, Becky Beckman, Tena Gross, Laurie Schaus, Kathy Collier, Alexis Clark, and freshman Theresa Vasko. Minor letters went to freshmen Anne Kammann, Kim Hubbard, and Bobbi Southworth.

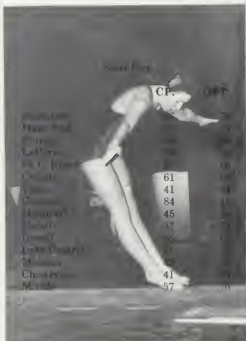

With swimmers Becky Beckman and Jenifer Morris returning Coach Karm said the team will probably win more meets next year than this year. Tina Head, Bobbi Southworth, Anne Kammann and Patty Vicari may pose a threat to diving teams next year.

Bullfrogs capture 1st at Sectionals

The boys' swim team finished its season by capturing first place at Sectionals. The team's record was 7-5 in varsity dual meets under Coach Ron Coghill.

During the season the Bullfrogs swam in different meets around the state. In the Munster Relays-White Division, they placed second. At the Warren Central Invitational in Indianapolis, the Bullfrogs received a third place. In the Lake Suburban Conference both the varsity and junior varsity teams got a third place.

In Sectional competition, held at the Crown Point pool, the Bullfrogs left the others in their wake and took first place. In diving competition senior Tim Lewis captured first place; junior Eric Jacobsen, second place; and junior Bob Starzynski, third place. Coach Ron Coghill was also named the sectional swim coach for the 1982-83 season.

Three divers and four swimmers qualified for the State Meet held at the Natatorium in Indianapolis. They were Brian Donovan, Eric Jacobsen, Tim Lewis, Matt Marshall, Rich Seaman, Bob Starzynski, and Randy Venema. The only swimmer to score was diver Tim Lewis, who placed seventh in state.

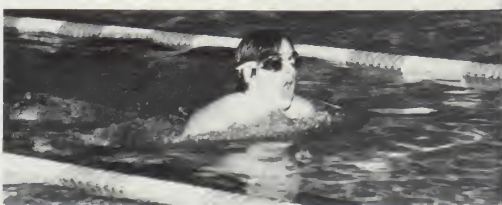

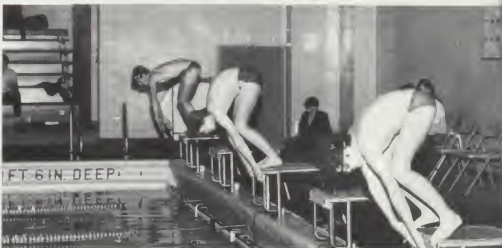

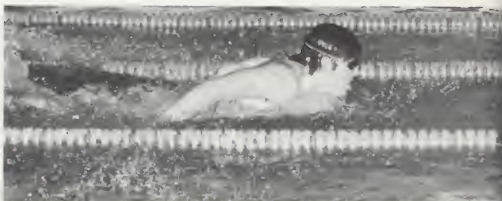

According to Coach Ron Coghill, next year he will have an excellent group of young swimmers to fill in the gaps left by departing seniors Guy Davis, George Kiger, Tim Lewis and Keith Vaden. Coach Coghill said that the sophomore group will be the heart of next year's team providing it with experience.

The Lady Bulldogs drive to second in state finals

The un-ranked Lady Bulldogs surprised Indiana by taking second in state. The girls upset the number one ranked Heritage team to get to the championship game. Even when they were down by 15 points in the fourth quarter, the Lady Bulldogs and their fans would not give up. When the buzzer sounded, they had only fallen short of the championship by 5 points.

The Lady Bulldogs finished their season with record of 22-5. During the regular season play, they went 14-4.

They took the L.S.C. with a record of 6-0. They took the sectional and regional championships, and for the first time in the history of C.P.H.S., a basketball team won semi-state. This was also a first in the history of the L.S.C., a team from the L.S.C. won semi-state. The grand finale was when they took second place in the state.

Personal awards were given to several team members. Tammy Hammel was named Most Valuable Player; Sandy Grabowski, Most Improved; Anne Kvachkoff, the Hustle Award; and Peggy Schmal, Positive Mental Attitude Award.

Nancy Cowan, Tammy Hammel, and Anne Kvachkoff were named to the All-L.S.C. first team. Nancy Cowan and Tammy Hammel were named to the All-Sectional team. Nancy Cowan and Anne Kvachkoff were named to the All-Regional and All-Semi-State first teams. Nancy Cowan, Tammy Hammel, and Merit Erickson were named to the All-Tourney team at state.

Teamwork nets a successful season

The girls' junior varsity basketball team ended the season with a 17-1 record overall. A 6-0 conference record placed them first in the conference. This is the best junior varsity girls basketball record in the history of CPHS. They have not been beaten at home in the last two years. Coach Mark Callison said that playing as a team was a key to winning.

Outstanding players, according to Coach Callison are Shelly Blue, Sandy Grabowski, and Karen Yurkovich. Shelly Blue led the team in rebounds, field goal percentage and was second in scoring. Sandy Grabowski led the team in blocked shots and scoring. She played the latter half of the year on the varsity team. Karen Yurkovich was the second leading rebounder and has the most minutes played. Freshman players on the junior varsity are Rachel Gabato, a starter, Nancy Cebular, and Pam Stefankiewicz. Rachel Gabato led the team in free throw percentage.

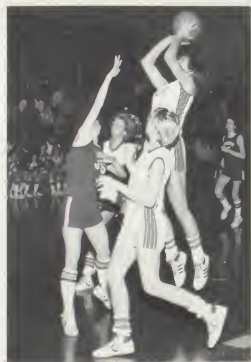

The freshman girls finished the season with a 9-2 record for the A-team and a 9-0 record for the B-team. The leading rebounder and scorer was Pam Stefankiewicz.

Miller qualifies for state tourney

The varsity wrestling team finished its dual meet season with a 9-4 record under Coach Scott Vlink. In the Valpo dual meet the team placed first. The Bulldogs placed second in the Crown Point Invitational. Senior Dave Lunn, sophomore Dean Black, and junior Gary Weilbaker were the Crown Point tournament champs.

In the Merrillville tournament the team placed fourth and had two tournament champs, junior Gary Weilbaker and senior Steve Tobias. At the Lake Suburban Conference, the grapplers grabbed two second places. Juniors Gary Weilbaker and Brian Kipp were the Lake Suburban champs.

The team placed second at sectionals. Junior Gary Weilbaker was a sectional champ. The team placed fourth at Regionals. The only wrestler to qualify for the state tournament was junior Kenny Miller.

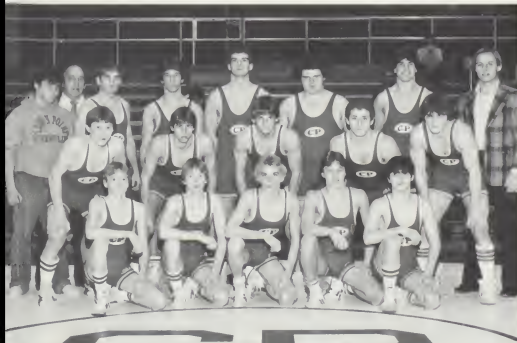

Coach Scott Vlink said the team as a whole did an outstanding job throughout the season. With five seniors graduating, next year's team will consist of capable freshman and sophomore wrestlers.

Diligence, spirit aid grapplers in 7-7-1 record

The J.V. wrestlers finished the season with a 7-7-1 record. They also won the Lowell J.V. wrestling tournament, winning two of the three rounds.

The strong efforts of Dan Rehfeldt with his individual record of 18-1, and Jim Rehfeldt with a record of 18-3, who also led the team in pins, aided the team. Other outstanding wrestlers are Joe Vassallo, Eric Schaeffer, Lester Riggle, Jim Bogash, Joe Hoyle, and Bob Duckett. Coach Russel Keller said that all the members showed potential, and he looks forward to strong future teams.

The freshman wrestling team finished the season with a 2-8-1 record. Tom Wolber with 9 victories, Jim Bogash with 7 victories, and Matt Kentel with 8, helped lead the team with their performances. Tom Wolber also led the team in pins with 7.

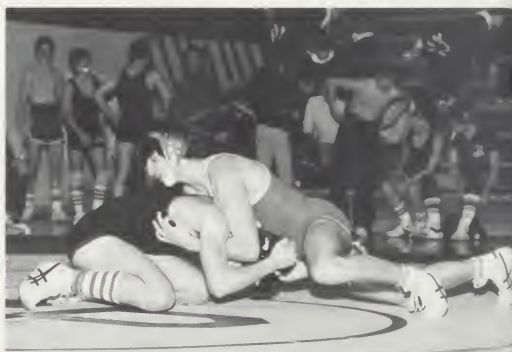

Other outstanding freshman wrestlers are Danny Degani, Pat Mitsch, Mike Radovich, and George Neely. George Neely wrestled half the year varsity, and is the only freshman to earn a varsity letter in wrestling. Most of the freshmen wrestled some junior varsity matches.

Lewis takes 5th on beam at state

The girls' gymnastic team was led by juniors Sheryl Yover and Liz Lewis. Both girls advanced out of the sectionals at Valparaiso. At regionals, Liz placed third on beam, qualifying her for the state meet in Indianapolis. At state Liz placed fifth on the balance beam.

At the optional level all-around leaders were junior Sheryl Yover and freshman Meg Bullock. Also contributing to the success of the optional team were sophmores Patty Vicari on bars; Kristy Pozywio on floor and beam; and freshman Kris Gutridge also on floor. The optionals, working together as a team, led the Bulldogs to eight wins and three losses.

The intermediate level all-around leaders were junior Liz Lewis and sophomore Letitia Finley. Also contributing to the level's success as all-rounders were sophomore Diane Williams, freshmen Anne Kammann and Julie Fleming. The intermediates led the team to a 9-2 record.

Coach Toni Yudt said that the team greatly improved from last year, not only in the ability of each girl, but also in team spirit and attitude as well.

Cheerleaders take best squad title

Last spring six girls were chosen as the varsity cheerleading squad. The bases for selection were teacher ratings, an interview with Mrs. Jan Szot and Mrs. Charlotte Johnsen, co-sponsors, and performances before a panel of judges.

This past summer these six girls traveled to Vincennes, Indiana, where they attended a National Cheerleaders' Association (N.C.A.) camp. The girls claimed the distinction of best varsity squad. The cheerleaders were also first runners up to the award of excellence, an award given to the best squad in the entire camp. They also received three superior ribbons and one excellent ribbon for various performances.

Once again with the help of the junior varsity squad, they held a second annual cheerleading clinic for girls in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades to raise money for their own squads and to train younger girls. Other fund raisers that helped to buy the new two-piece collegiate uniforms were selling candy and holding car washes.

This year with the help of the boy cheerleaders and Bulldog mascot, the year's spirit and enthusiasm reached a high level.

J.V., freshmen make Nationals

Both the junior varsity and freshman cheerleaders attended United States Cheerleaders Association Camp last summer. At this camp both squads did very well. Junior varsity cheerleaders Kristy Pozywio and Patti Petro survived tough competition and on the basis of individual performance were chosen to advance to Nationals. Both squads were chosen to advance to Nationals on basis of team performance. Unfortunately for financial reasons, none of the girls were able to attend.

For fund raisers the junior varsity cheerleaders held two car washes and sold candy to help buy their new white sweaters. The freshman cheerleaders also had many fund raisers, such as holding a garage sale and selling candy. The money raised was to buy new white skirts.

CP-ettes capture Mayor's trophy

The CP-ettes performed for football and basketball games and wrestling matches under the guidance of Mrs. Mary Anne Stone, faculty sponsor.

Tryouts were held during the spring of 1982. Fifty girls tried out, but only 20 were chosen together with six alternates. The bases of selection were the girls' ability in dance and their gymnastic skills. The CP-ettes practiced four days a week.

The CP-ettes won in the marching unit of the Fourth of July Parade in Crown Point. The CP-ettes also built the float for the Chamber of Commerce for the same parade and won the mayor's trophy.

During the summer the girls attended camp at Ball State University to learn new routines and perfect their marching skills.

During the school year the CP-ettes raised money by selling candy, having a bake sale, and selling shakers at the Homecoming game.

J.V. team wins L.S.C. tourney

The junior varsity baseball team finished its season with a 12-8 record under Coach Rich Svihra. The team won the Lake Suburban Conference Junior Varsity Baseball Tournament. With Jim Greene's grand slam homerun, the team beat Lowell 9 to 4, and with Tom Yohe's grand slam, the team beat Griffith 7 to 4 in the championship game. Artie Equihua and Jim Greene had the highest batting averages of .403 and .349. Jim Greene was the only player to score two homeruns; Drake Margiotta and Tom Yohe also scored a homerun during the season. Tom Yohe, Artie Equihua, and Scott Baize were the pitchers for the J.V. team.

The freshman team finished its season with a 4-9 record under Coach Chuck Smoljan. The team won two and lost three in conference play. The team did not get to play in the Lake Suburban Conference Freshman Tournament because of rain. Four batters with the highest averages are Bill Sanders, .413 average; George Sebben, .457 average; Steve Stiener, .444 average; and John Verdusco, .433 average. Tom Post, Bill Sanders, and Steve Stiener were the top pitchers and were responsible for the team's victories.

The team ended its season with a team batting average of .324. Offensively, the team scored 6.6 runs per game, but defensively, the freshmen gave up 8.3 runs per game. Of their nine losses, four games were lost by one run.

Linksmen finish 4-th at sectionals

The varsity golfers finished the season with a 5-12 record overall. A 5-7 conference record tied them for fourth place in the conference with Griffith. The team ended the season with a fourth place finish at sectionals.

Captain Dave Burk led the team in scoring, placing eighth on the all-conference list. He was named to the second team all-conference, was sectional medalist, and advanced to regional play. He was also given the MVP award.

Other awards went to Rick Amodeo, best putter; and to Greg Gordon and Steve Smead, the most improved players. This year's letter winners are Dave Burk, Greg Gordon, Rick Amodeo, Jason Thorne and Steve Smead. All will be returning except senior Greg Gordon.

Coach Joe Heuer commented that the team played better than the record showed. The team lost three matches by only one stroke, including the sectional where they missed advancing to regionals after tying with Portage and Valpo on the fifth man's score.

Seniors cherish special moments

For many seniors, the 1982-'83 school year meant the beginning of a very special year.

One of the highlights of the year was the title, "Senior." The class of '83 waited three long years to acquire this title. Members took advantage of their status as seniors to support their athletic teams in full force and cheer like no other class.

Being a senior also meant security. Being at CPHS for three years, the seniors knew many teachers. Many seniors acquired close relationships with these teachers.

A senior also felt a sense of importance. In many clubs, seniors were nominated as presidents or vice presidents. Many underclassmen looked up to the seniors for advice on their social lives and homework.

Early release was a special treat for many. This gave seniors the chance to obtain part-time jobs and work in the afternoon, or just take an hour or two off.

As graduation approached, the anxiety level was high. The only thing on the mind of a senior was graduation.

All that has come and gone, and now the class of '83 is a "special memory."

Seniors enjoy their spare time

Seniors did many things in their spare time. They came out in full force to support their Bulldogs at football and basketball games. Seniors dominated many of the Student Council dances that were held after some of the games.

Movies were popular this year. Many went to see films like An Officer and a Gentleman, Tootsie, and First Blood.

Video games were also popular this year, and many seniors spent much of their time dropping quarters into the slots of arcade games.

Many of the senior guys joined health clubs and worked out with weights. But the guys were not only ones to join health clubs; girls also became members so that they could lose weight or tone up with aerobics. Seniors also took up jogging. Participants ranged from the serious competitor to the once-in-a-while runner.

Many picked up their paychecks and headed straight for the mall. The mall was a place where seniors could go to meet people and walk around as well as buy the latest items.

Another major part of the senior social life were parties. There were many unplanned parties held after the games. For Halloween, some seniors dressed up in costumes and went to parties held at the Leroy Conservation Club.

Seniors explore job opportunities

With inflation being what it is, many seniors are acquiring jobs to pay for the many things they want such as cars, albums, clothes, and dating. Some seniors need to work to save money for college. They must also pay for their senior year pictures, announcements, cap and gown, and senior prom. Seniors work at such places as Luke's, Ribordy's, Jewel, and other places around town.

Having a job makes a simple life rushed and hectic. Seniors must find time to do homework between school hours, working, and still maintain a social life. They are forced to utilize their time wisely. Because of working hours, seniors are pushed into spur of the moment activities and aren't always able to plan their activities ahead of time.

Many seniors must also watch for falling grades. Having a job, they must decide which is more important homework, a basketball game, or maybe some other activity. Some choose the homework, others choose the activities.

Most seniors enjoy having jobs, even considering the fact that it is difficult at times. They feel that if they are able to schedule their time wisely now, it will help them later in life when they are adults.

Seniors anticipate commencement

Throughout the last months of the school year, seniors did many things. The anticipation mounted as graduation grew near.

Many seniors attended the 1983 Prom. Prom night was a "special" night for many seniors because this was their last formal high school dance. After prom, many couples went to places like Water Tower, the Hyatt Regency, West Beach, and Turkey Run.

A few days after prom, many seniors decided to take a "day off" for senior ditch day. Seniors enjoyed their "day off" by going to the beach or spending the day in Chicago.

Later in May, seniors gathered one last time at their senior banquet. The night was filled with dancing, food, and fun for all present. It was a night not too soon forgotten.

A few days before graduation, seniors were dismissed from their classes to practice for commencement. Seniors were lined up, and after mass confusion, the final practice run was perfect.

Finally, after finals were over, and the last bell had rung, seniors realized their high school days were over. For some it brought tears of joy, and for others, tears of sadness. Through their four years at CPHS, seniors have grown together as one—the class of 1983!

Senioritis hits Class of '83

What makes a seemingly normal student suddenly change and have an "I don't care" attitude? The answer is senioritis.

This condition has symptoms like no other disease. Signs of senioritis include staying home to watch reruns of the Brady Bunch, stretching curfews for a few more hours, or putting homework off until five minutes before class begins. Another sure sign is when the student wakes up one sunny morning and finds himself sitting on the beach instead of sitting in first hour.

There is only one known cure for this plague that seems to sweep every senior class, and it is called graduation!

Juniors struggle to select courses

For juniors, the wide variety of classes became a major concern. Juggling classes to fit graduation requirements and college entrance requirements, many juniors found it impossible to schedule the majority of classes with friends. Juniors took time out of the daily routine and congregated in the cafeteria before the morning bell to tell each other the latest news and make plans for the upcoming weekend.

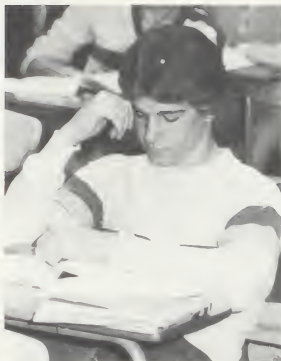

Many students found the 30-minute lunch hour quite inadequate. Some juniors wolfed down their lunch in a matter of minutes to allow study time for that upcoming test.

Juniors look back with satisfaction

As juniors, the class showed more maturity. They demonstrated this by taking classes such as chemistry, advanced algebra, and American literature. Juggling a job, school, and a social life created a challenge for many students. Working to get money for college or just to pay for some social activities wasn't easy.

Juniors managed, though, and kept thinking of the fact that they only had one more year left. By the end of the year, many juniors looked back with satisfaction at what they had accomplished and were pleased with the results. Most juniors were ready for the challenges of their senior year.

Schedule changes affect sophomores

When sophomores ventured into the new school year, many were stunned at how difficult it was compared to their freshman year. Much to their surprise, they enjoyed the change.

All sophomores found it hard to plan a schedule that the student both wanted and liked. But the students, with the help of counselors, got through the scheduling.

After the school year had begun, because of overcrowding in the classrooms, the administration hired a new math teacher and a new English teacher. For this reason many sophomores had schedules juggled to relieve overcrowding.

Sophomore spirit boosts victory

For the sophomores this year's Homecoming was even more exciting than the last. That night the sophomores watched the mighty Bulldogs walk away with a victory over the Lowell Red Devils with a score of 21 to 7.

Many sophomores participated in the parade. Their float won an inglorious fourth place with a slogan of "Down with the Devils."

By 9:50 almost all the sophomores present at the game were chomping down on their victory meals at McDonald's.

At the Homecoming dance the sophomores got down to the beat and moved their feet to the music of Banshee.

The victory of the game and the spirit of the fans made an outstanding Homecoming!

Novelty wears off as year advances

Freshmen may long remember their first few days at Crown Point High School. Classes seemed so much longer, the subjects so much harder, and the halls were a never ending maze.

As the year went on, freshmen became better acquainted with the everyday routine. As they got involved in school activities, school no longer got out at 2:35 but whenever meetings or practices ended.

By the close of the school year, the naive freshmen were ready to be sophisticated sophomores.

Freshmen adjust to new routines

As freshmen started the 1982-83 school year, they found many things different from Taft, St. Mary's and Trinity Lutheran. Instead of being the leaders of the school, they now found themselves once again at the bottom. Halls were filled with many unfamiliar faces and classes were much more difficult. As the semester end approached, extracurricular activities began playing a more active role in the lives of many freshmen.

As the year drew on, freshmen made the adjustments with unusual ease and became a part of the daily scene.

Positive approach obtains goals

The administrators tried to accomplish certain goals throughout the school year. They continued the positive approach to school discipline and tried to strengthen the curriculum. New programs introduced were the computer program, HOE, and ACES. One of their main goals has been to keep the high school operating smoothly, to maintain its good condition, and to improve the facilities.

The administrators tried to provide opportunities for the students to enjoy their high school days. To this end, the school has sponsored numerous Friday dances that have been very well attended. Another main priority was to involve the high school faculty in more student activities. These were just some of the main goals and priorities of the 1983 school year.

Mr. Kenneth A. Brist, (top, Indian State University, M.S.) principal, is the chief administrator in charge of the entire educational program at the high school.

Dr. L. Jay Jones, (above, Purdue University Ph.D.) executive vice principal, supervises maintenance and handles discipline for juniors and seniors.

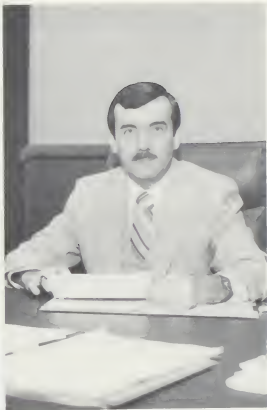

Mr. Indalecio Ruiz, (above right, Indiana State University, M.S.) assistant principal, supervises attendance procedures, and deals with discipline problems related to attendance.

Mr. David W. Sykes (above far right, Murray State University, M.S.) handles discipline problems relating to freshmen and sophomores.

Mr. Richard A. Webb, (right, Ball State University, M.A.) athletic director, coordinates all sports events for the high school.

Quality education claims priority

The School Board, working in conjunction with Mr. Charles Bigler, continued Crown Point's tradition of excellence. They endorsed the continuation of the HERO and COE programs, approved the expansion of ACES, initiated a computer program and the HOE program for students in health related occupations. They also endorsed the expansion of critical skills to include business and social studies.

The School Board approved the purchase of $80,000 worth of graphic arts equipment and an additional $52,000 worth of computer equipment. Bidding for new copy machines for the high school was also underway at the year's end.

Mr. Charles R. Bigler (top left, Indiana University, M.S.) was selected from a field of twenty-nine candidates for the superintendency.

Dr. Dennis K. Shawver (above, Indiana University, Ed.D) serves the school corporation in his capacity as assistant superintendent for instruction.

Mr. Paul J. Georgas, (far left, Indiana University, M.S.) administrative assistant to the superintendent, is in charge of personnel.

Mr. George W. Antal (left, Indiana University, M.S.) is supervisor of buildings, grounds, and transportation for the school corporation.

Guidance expands student services

The Guidance Department has expanded its services to help the juniors and seniors answer questions about college with a pamphlet called "College Here I Come!" Alumni of several area colleges assisted the Guidance Department in answering questions about colleges.

The Guidance Department wants to purchase a new computer called "Discover." This computer would enable students to talk freely to it about colleges. The Guidance Department had a demonstration computer called "Ziggy" for several months; it seemed to be a success. The "Discover" computer would provide services similar to those Ziggy offered.

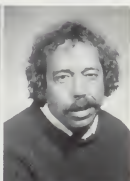

Mr. Russ Keller (right) discusses college plans with the parents of one of his students.

Mrs. Doris Green (middle) works to update the daily attendance roster.

Mrs. Jean Clune (bottom) finds a moment to read the headlines in the Chicago Tribune.

Special Services Assist students

The professional workers, not directly involved with the classroom, are very important in providing for students' needs. Mrs. Mary Dixon, head librarian, Mr. George Tachtiris, A.V. coordinator; Mrs. Jackie Webb, bookstore manager; Mrs. Rita McFadden, school nurse; and Mrs. Doris Sprout, school dietician, all perform essential services for students and teachers. Mr. Alan Young and Mrs. Georgas visit the school to assist students on the work study program and with speech and hearing problems, respectively.

Mrs. Mary Dixon (top) makes a photocopy of material for a student.

Mrs. Rita McFadden (left) repairs a pair of glasses for a student.

Workers promote smooth operation

Whether you're in the main office, the guidance department or anywhere else, you will find a secretary at work to keep the school running smoothly. This year the secretary's job was made easier with the installation of word processors which replaced typewriters in several offices.

The cafeteria workers are responsible for a very important part of the day, lunch. Before lunch they are busy preparing wholesome lunches, and they spend their afternoons washing the dishes and straightening up the kitchen. They furnish a wide variety of food, ranging from pizza to chicken or the ever popular salad bar, available every Tuesday and Thursday.

Cafeteria personnel are (top, seated) Virginia Pouch, JoAnn Andersen, Gerri Baner, Barbara Atkinson, Marian Quale; (standing) Mickie Hardin, Jackie Kelley, Edith Pritt, Karyl Ward, Pat Kairns, Marge Westerwelle, Judy Jaeger, Edna Craig, Mary Peterson, Kathy Sons, Jerrie Knotts, and Shirley Vickers.

Jerrie Knotts (above) dishes out a plate of hash browns before the lunch crowd arrives.

Judy Jaeger (middle right) arranges the cookies in preparation for lunch.

Mary Peterson (right) opens the door to the oven to check on the pizzas, a favorite food of Crown Point students.

Teachers foster quality education

Developing and molding young minds of students was one of the chief goals of faculty members. With the national concern about quality education peaking, teachers assigned more work, expected higher quality assignments from students, and encouraged students to achieve. Teachers worked hard to help students to understand everything from modern chemical reactions in chemistry to projects in computer programming. While other interests made inroads into students' time, teachers continued to promote quality education.

Teachers direct, assist students

Teaching offers many faculty members a feeling of accomplishment. The satisfaction a teacher receives when a student has learned from teaching techniques make many teachers feel their job is well worth the many hours they spend daily on lesson plans, homework assignments, and tests. These efforts help to prepare the students for college and for life. On graduation day, as teachers see the students that they have guided and educated for the past four years receive their diplomas, they feel pride in a job well-done.

Miss Eleanore Britton

The 1982-1983 Escalibur staff would like to thank all of the people who contributed in making this year's book a success. We would like to thank Miss Eleanore Britton for her help and guidance in getting this yearbook put together. Our thanks also goes to Mr. Steve Takma, Newfoto representative, for his professional advice and to Root Photographers for capturing this year's special moments in pictures. We would like to thank the faculty and the administration for their cooperation during the year. A very special thanks goes to Karen Wayman for writing the theme copy and to N-Z's Stock Photos for the picture of the hot air balloon to tie our theme together. We hope that we have captured the experiences of students in rising to the challenge.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To improve the health and social care of older people.
- To ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need to live well.
- To ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy is a key document in the development of policy for older people in the UK. It provides a framework for the development of services and support for older people, and sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 2000). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in all age groups, but the increase has been most marked in the young (Mental Health Foundation 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of young people with mental health problems. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for mental health care for young people, which sets out a vision of a new mental health service for young people. The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) young people should be able to access services that are appropriate to their needs; (2) services should be based on the needs of young people; (3) services should be based on the principles of partnership and collaboration; (4) services should be based on the principles of equality and diversity; (5) services should be based on the principles of confidentiality and privacy; (6) services should be based on the principles of safety and security; (7) services should be based on the principles of respect and dignity; (8) services should be based on the principles of participation and involvement; (9) services should be based on the principles of transparency and accountability; (10) services should be based on the principles of effectiveness and efficiency.
